The FX International Interior Design Awards would like to thank our sponsors and supporting organisations

WELCOME

Tonight our FX Awards celebrate 17 years of world-class design excellence. Thanks to your continuous support we now have a truly international status with global submissions comprising 50 per cent of our entries. So if you win tonight you really are the best in the world.

As a result with so many of VIP architects and designers in attendance, I am humbled that you have travelled across the world to join us tonight for one night only at this fabulous party. Our industry is known for its colourful characters and it's here that you get to meet them!

The strength of our awards is directly attributable to our judging panel that I invite as a new panel each year to keep the event on its toes. Each of the judges has been invited for their integrity, opinions and experience, to reflect your interests. While I don't judge myself, this year I have recruited 20 judges, our largest panel ever, to argue your corner. In some of the most hotly contested categories we have had as many as eight judges on a category to put your case. They care as much as I do about the value of these awards – the debates were magnificent!

Sincere thanks for supporting FX tonight. Look forward to seeing you later!

Theresa Dowling, Editor FX

PROGRAMME

ABOUT THE JUDGING SYSTEM

The FX International Interior Design Awards are open to architects, designers, clients, and suppliers to interior design projects or products completed or launched between 20 July 2014 and 20 July 2016.

The judges are an independent panel of experts comprising engineers, clients, architects and designers to reflect our audience tonight. They have been invited on to the 2016 panel because of their experience, opinions, and commitment to design. Judges, and their companies, were not permitted to enter any categories.

Because of the large number of entries, and the integrity of the FX Awards, we use a transparent judging system in which each judge ranks their top six entries in each category.

With up to eight judges for each of the hotly contested categories, these placings are then scored and added together to confirm the shortlist, and the ultimate winner. The placings are based on criteria including originality, detailing and finish, fitness for purpose, and innovative materials and techniques.

Many thanks to all our judges, who gave up so much of their valuable time and brought their expertise and enthusiasm to the process. Sincere thanks also to Cherrill Scheer, who has acted in an advisory capacity as an unofficial chair of the judges.

Finalists All finalists will be sent their certificates by post on 8 December 2016
